

www.woodweb.com List of NC Local Small Sawmill and Dry Kilns
NCSU Wood Products Extension
September 11, 2015

The Wood Products Extension Department at NCSU created this list of local small sawmills and dry kilns from the www.woodweb.com website where small sawmill and dry kiln businesses can self-list products and services. Below are the instructions to create your own list that is helpful as new businesses are added and others dropped over time.

This list is being made available to local North Carolina Forest Service offices in an effort to locate for landowners and others local businesses and individuals that can process logs and green lumber into kiln dried lumber. The list is organized by county. Encourage sawmills and kiln drying operations to add themselves to the list if they are not already listed.

On the www.woodweb.com website one can send an email to a mill using the contact form that appears when the contact person's name has the blue underline link.
